THE BALTIC FLEET EXPLOIT.

The deplorable incident which has led to the deaths of so many English fishermen is a striking example of the hopeless state to which the morale of the Ri state to which the morals of the Russians has been reduced by the successes of the Japanese. The only excuse which the Russian Government can bring forward to partially palliste what is nothing more not less than a case of murder on the high seas, is that it was inspired by the fear of Japanese mines. It is almost incredible that the commanders of the Russian men-of-war-could have been so panie-stricken as to fail to distinguish the humble craft of fishermen, whether steam or sail, for all fishing vessels are distinguished by international signals, which are known to all sea-faring men. Both by night, and day these signals are distinguished, and their use is enforced by the Board of Trade in order that passing ships may keep telear of their nets. Our telegrams expressly state that the Hull trawlers were carrying these signals when they were so unwarrantably attacked. The outrage took place at inght, when the signals are ared and white light, and as the Russians put their searchlights on the trawlers, it is incredible that they failed to notice the signals, more especially as they must have been aware that theywere approaching the North Sea fishing grounds. The indignation at home-owing to the tragic deaths of these unfortunate dishermen, while engaged in their peaceful pursuits, must be intense, and unless the Russian Government takes immediate steps to give full satisfaction for the outrage, public feeling may be roused to a most dangerous pitch. An official telegram this morning states that orgent representations have been addressed to the Russian Government at St. Petersburg, where it has been explained that the situation, in the opinion of his Majusty's Government, does not admit of any delay. To day there will be a conference be keen doff, the Russian Ambassador, and it is to be lioped that the fullest compensation will be officed by the Tasa's representative for one of the most deplerable errors of judgment that has sver occurred in the history of modern warfare. the history of modern warfare.

MILITARY PRISONS.

AILITARY PRISONS.

Any reform which improves the lot of the soldier is of benefit to the community at large, and this more especially in Egypt, where compulsory service obtains. According to a recently published report by Lieutenant-Colonel Henderson upon military prisons in Eingland, it would appear that the change of method, adopted in the treatment of soldiers convicted of offences in most favorably spoken of by governor treatment of soldiers convicted of offence is most favorably spoken of by governors and prison chaplains. Under the newly-inaughrated system prisoners are made to continue their military training and to perform a good deal of useful work, with the result that they leave prison better soldiers and better men. The military authorities in this country, always scalout to increase the efficiency of the native army under their charge, may be recommended to study this report with a view introducing into Engupt a system which has been found to work so satisfactorily in England.

LOOD KITCHINER'S COAT-OF-ANISS.—Refer-ing to the fact that many, people are, turning their attention to heraldry at the present time, and especially in connection with book-plates, a writer in the New York Herald (Paris elition) says. "I was shown one recently which had been executed for Yord Kitchener when he was made a peer. It is rather interesting to find that the late Queen-allowed lim to use the Union Jack crossed with the Exputian flag, while his supporters free a pair of camels, he is also allowed the head of an elephant."

ALHAMBRA THEATRE

ALHAMBIKA TERGERE.

Sardou and Nagac's comedy Discorpors was given last wight at the Alhambra Theatre. The performance was excellent in every respect, Mile Blanche d'Ornagie was elightful as the heroine of the piece, and her esternations of feeling towards her hemband and her lover were given with a very fine display of acting. M. Moreau, as the husband, and M. de Prefonds, as the lower were both rood.

To-morrow, the company will give Brieux's Les Avaries. This piece, which evoked so much polemical discussion at the time of the first performance in France, conveys a thorough-

EDEN MUSIC HALL

The programme at the Eden Musichall sontains a rapid succession of good "turns" and there is absolutely no 'lag" whatever. No one ought to miss seeing the performance of the Bourguit-Brocca couple. These dancers execute some wonderful feats in the art of "repsishore. In the "valse Tourbillon" and "valse Bercense," Mme Bourguit-Brocca displays the most fascinating grace of action and lightness of movement. As for the muscular power of Mc. Bourguit-Brocca, it is simply phenominal, and he keeps dancing, weisting and lifeting his companion with remarkable grace. Mile Rosensteel, one of the latest French 'stars,' is a great success. Her voice and diction are bewitching, especially so in the romance "Lorsque les lampions s'eteignent." Mrs. Darcier, as a flower girl, is excellent, as is Miss Mantes, the new "eccentric" singer. In fact, all the artists are specially selected for one attraction or another, and much praise is dae to the manager, Mr. Parissis, for his successful endeavours to entertain the public, The programme at the Eden Music-hall

Sir W. Willcocks esterates that his project would cost LE 2,000,000 if two milliards are stosed; and LE 2,600,000 if three milliards are stored. Mr. A. L. Webb, &C.M.G. the Inspector General of Irrigation, Upper Egypt criticises the proposals in the following words:

channels of sufficient dimensions to allow of the Wady Rayan both as a storage reservoir and a flood escape would, cost at least LLE 5,500,000. It is fascinating, and presents no engineering difficulties, but-1t has its draw-backs. It is costly, it will take ten years boring into working order, and it must not be forgotten that no one, can know, no are there are means of ascertaining, whether it will Willoocks argues thus:—"When the old Lake Moeris, or the present Fayoum, was, full of water, and, 63m. higher than the bottom of the Wadi Rayan, and repasinedso for thousands of years, there was no question of the waters having become salted, or having escaped into the Wady. The Wady was is dry as it is to day, amplethe great inland see was always fresh. Sin'W. Garstin quotes from the report of the cehnical Gommission, showing that Sirenjamin Baker and his colleagues considered here was a danger of serious infiltrations and company to the Brown and the Brown house, the such serious before the serious that the serious serious the serious that the serious the serious that the serious tha scheme, and for this reason, and for the sax of increasing the water supply passing Assouan he considers the project for improving the Bahr-el-Gebel should be given preference ove that of the Wadi Rayan. For those who have felt the attraction of the Rayan project, it wil coothing to note that "judgment is reserved, d nothing worse.

DESTRUCTION OF TEMPLES.

"F.R.S." writes as follows to the Times. The letter referred to in our hast paragraph was reproduced in our issue for the 12th inst. — Some years ago, when the proposal was made to ubuserie Philae and other temples in Nubia, the general series of indignation at such destruction brought about a change of plans; and it was tacity understood that the reproach of such vandalism was not to be borne by Brighand. Now it is rumoured that this understanding is to be torn up, before any public statement is made as to the steps whiolt will be taken, and that the dain at Assouan is to be heightened without further notice or justification. If this true, it would be a serious breach of what was believed by the public to be an honourable compromise; and the public are justified in asking for direct information.

1. Is the Assouan datu to be raised?

2.2 Heso, what buildings will be, submerged in Nubia of There is a belief that great electric standard of the two remaining temples that are left in Bgypg will follow such a course.

3. Will any steps be taken about the many, ancient buildings which would be ruined if they are submergence? In asking these questions no one impugues (Continued.)

If the winter discharge of the Blue Nile is served for the Sudan, as proposed in the blue book, there will certainly be no winter piply to spare for the Rayan Reservoir, at your entit the amount of the winter supply a seen 'increased, by the prevention of lost quater in the 'Sudd' region. Consequently W. diarstin considers thar Mr. Beresford's or to Sobat chand project must come first there is winter navigation blook Assama will sentily suffer, as the filling of the enlarged socials. Reservoir will cause a reduction of 22 lillion cubic metres a day from the natural ion cubic metres a day from the natural barge of the river, already reduced by 20 mil-abrogal, the transfer of the Bue Nile to service of the Sudan. Sir W. Willeocks' proposal provides, for the filling, during I, bit, instead of a stone the service of the Sudan. Sir W. Willecoles of the proposal provides. for the filling during thool, but, instead of a storage of 2 milliards, 3 milliards is provided for. It seems to me that, so tay where supply of the river is limited, the project for filling during flood is the sound one. But, considering this project as an alteralative to the Bor channel project, it would be preferable, for purposes of comparison, to have before one as estimate for a storage of 2400 million cubic metres, as giving all that is wanted in Egypt in the following way.

Million can. any future submergence !

In asking these questions no one impugnthe excellent intentions of zealous engineers In asking these questions no one impuges the excellent intentions of zealque engineers. The intentions of Torquemada were excellent—to save men's souls; the intentions of the Communards. The intentions of Mebamet Aly were excellent when he destroyed temple after temple to build-sugar factories and powder imagazines—rather—theaper. We meet with zealque in a films, but the destructive sealers. atter temple to build sugar factories and powder imagazines rather cheaper. We meet with zeatots in all lines, but the destructive, scalot is a public danger. And until the zeatot engineer has publicly proved that no afternative to his plans is possible, and that he is not merely cheapening by destruction, he must be classed as a public danger.

The public have heard of several other courses being possible for storage of the Nile—the dam at the Kaibar cataract (see The Times, October 1), or at other sites. Each of these must be openly discussed and nothing

SOCIETY OF "TEMPORARY WIFEH

A Moscow lady named Korneskoft has formied an alliance of women "against that male gyramiy which imposes on women marriage of a life-time," and has founded a society of "temporary wifehood." The members (says the correspondent of the Daily Diepatch) pledge themselves to abjure the sanctions of the Church, and to "marry only for a preliminary term of five years." As marriage contract will be duly signed, the male partner depositing in a bank a sun equal to a third of his capital, which will revert to the bride and to her children on the union A Moscow lady named Korneskoff has formed equal to a third of his capital, which will rever to the bride and to her children on the union being terminated before the expiry of the stipulated term. At the end of the five years, if the parties desire to continue their union, they mais bind themselves for life by the if the parties desire to continue their union, they must bind themselves for life by the ordinary church ceremony. One "wedding" has alresidy taken place under the auspices of the "Emancipated Women," the bride being the young daughter of the founder of the society, and the bridegroom a doctor whom she had refused to marry on other terms. Instead of to "honour and obey," the wife swors to "charlah and respect" her husband, MR. CULLEN'S TRAVELS

HIS IMPRESSIONS OF JAPAN

Mr. Nosman Cullen has given our Cairo Correspondent a most interesting interview on his experiences of Japan Questioned on the feeling of the European residents in the country, he stated that their sympathies, even if not pro-Russina, are by no means strongly in favour of Japan. The majority of these residents are suffering more and more from the vigodr and efficiency of Japanese competition; firms which a few years ago did at immense amount of budness, as commission agents have now to face the configetition of branches of great Japanese houses established in Europie and America, and the success of branches of great Japanese houses established in Europie and America, and the success of the Japanese would insvitably result in a still greater extension, at European, and American expense, of their great commercial influence in China. None the less, all unprojudiced observers were compelled to admit that the Japanese merited their success in arms and in commerce. To their enterprise and hardihood was joined an extraordinary mastery of defail and organising power. So experienced an authority as Sir-Frederick Traves has declared. Mr. Noman Cullen has given our Cairo was joined an and organic commerce. To their enterprise and hardineod was joined an extraordinary mastery of defail and cryanising power. So experienced an authority as Sir Frederick Treves has declared that in their military hospital arrangements, so far from having anything to learn, they have much to teach all other nations. The Japanese, in Mr. Cullen's opinion, do not merely adopt Western civilisation, they adapt it to the needs of their country, and with their extraordinary uniqueness of perspection, and exist the country of the country and with their extraordinary uniqueness of perspection, and only the country of the the needs of their country, and with their ex-traor linary fuickness of perception and opin-prehension and their spirit of self-sacrifice they may become in a very short time the leading power in the Pacific.

With regard to the criticisms that have been made against Japanese commercial morality, Mr. Callen quoted a remark made in his presence by a leading Japanese financier.
"These are only growing pains; after all, Japan should not be blamed for admitting some undean things in the parcel of Western civilisation."

chould not be blamed for admitting some unclean things in the parcel of Western civilisation."

The world is beginning to realise that "little Japan" is a nation of 45,000,000 inhabitants, and Mr. Cullen pointed out that expansion is fast becoming an economic necessity for the country. The yearly increase amounts to half-amillion, the density of population of the iman islands averaged: 288 to the square initial, and, though the Northern Island of Vezo or Hokkaido is being colonised, as is Formosa, peither of these territories is likely to draw away such large numbers as Korea will if the Hokkato is being colonised, as is Formosa, geither of these territories is likely to draw away such large numbers as Korea will if the lapaness make good their occupation of the kingdom. On every side one sees evidences of industry and efficiency. Iron bridges, cannon, electrical apparatus, etc., are all being constructed, and well constructed, in the country, while the new electric trams service of Tokio is a marvel of efficiency. An 8-mile ride at a good speed in a comfortable tram car seems cheap at a price equivalent to 3 millièmes of Egyptian money. On the other hand, crowding and competition have undoubtedly caused much distress among the working people at. Oaska and other manufacturing centres, where a cruide Socialism has appeared among the workers. Up to now this has been confined to economic questions and no and they have to a fine the district of a filmilitary movement can be dream of, for loyalty to the: Emperor as representative of the State is the religion of Japan.

Emperor as representative of the State is the religion of Japan.

With regard to the war, great numbers of trained men remain in Japan and thousands more are being trained. The tactics of the Japanese have on the whole been modelled on the teaching of German instructors, but in dealing with correspondents Lord Kitchener has been their model: General Pukushima informed. Mr. Colleri et al. State of the has been their model. General Pukushima informed Mr. Culian that the interests at stake were so enormous that the War Office, felt bound to check the activity of the journalists, much as they regretted disappointing newspapers who had spared no expense in their preparations to describe the campaign. As to the actual conduct of the war, the stories of attractive on both sides must not be accepted without very careful investigation. The general opinion among unprejudiced observers was that the war had been extremely fairly and humanely fought. Likek of preparation, commissariat francis, and weakness in good officers, had been the cause of the Russian defeats.

Some sensation, has been caused by persisent rumours that in certain even tent rumours that in certain tysiciantical the Russian Treasury may draw upon Russian Church property in order to provide funds for the war, It is even rumoured (says a Russian correspondent in the Times) that for the war It is even rumourou (says a Russian correspondent in the Times) that the Holy Synod has already been approached with the suggestion that churches and monasteries should themselves voluntarily offer some of their valuables to the State. Very large sums could thus undoubtedly be placed at the disposal of the Treasury, but it is equally certain that any such tampering would be vigwed with widespread dismay, and not least from the religious point of view.

MACEDONIAN GREEKS UP IN ARMS.

The Macedonian question has entered upon a new phase. Exasperated by the orimes of the Bulgarian revolutionary bards, the Greikes of Macedonia are up in arms, and fighting has taken place. The declared aim of these Bulgarian bands is to mend or end Turkish misrule in Macedonia. Their methods, however, do not support their projectations. Authentic records are available to prove that in recent years they have murdered close upon three himdred. Greeks, outsaged hundreds more, bulled many of their own commutations. years they have murdered close upon thromindred Greeks, outraged hundreds mor tilled many of their own compatriots, as mrassed the Macedonian population generall

To THE EDITOR OF THE EGYPTIAN GAZETTE.

To the Editor of the Editorian Gazette.

Sir.—I, the undersigned, desire to bring to the notice of the public, and especially the General Officer Commanding the Army of Occupation, as well as all British regimental officers, that a person named Mansour Salim had already been employed as a waiter to one of the English officers. here in Casto and was sent away for his misconduct. Then he obtained the contract for washing and ironing of the lines of the betation stationed at Kasrel-Nii barracks and not being able to meet the dially disbursements necessary for the work, he came and requested me to join him and provide the requisite capital. I was to pay the amounts necessary from time to time and he was to serve under my orders. I accepted this arrangement and he remained working with me until I began to find him dishonest. I hadavaned him ten pounds to meet current expenses. He didnottos, but, on the contrary, he spent the money in other ways. So, on discovering this, I noney in other ways. So, on disc d our agr agreement and brought an actio our Salim in the Native Tribuns for the recovery of my money and the case wa lecided in my favor. When the huiseic proceeded to Mansour Salim's house he toun proceeded to Mansour Salim's nouse from nothing to seize to satisfy my just claim in the way of clothes or furniture except what was worth about P.T.40. But the Aussier discovered at the same time that the fourth part of the house, in which my debtgr resided was his property, so I have placed a this quarter part and the Tribunal and the Tribunal states. eizure on this quarter part and the Tribunas ordered it to be sold. Now I have su ceeded in getting myself the contract for the washing and ironing of the linen of the regi-ment stationed at Hasr-el-Nil Barracks, and ment stationed at Hasrel-Nil Barracks, and Mansour Salim on finding this has been writing to the different officers and offering to do the work again at a lesser price, but as he has neither money nor credit anywhere I am writing through your columns to warn all these whom it may concern that he is only trying to deceive and defined them. I make this declaration on my own responsibility and am prepared to stand all consequences of my action in making public Mansour Salim's evil doings through the medium of the English Press.
